

Heather Chapple

Rider

Changing Gears UK 2005

“There’s something balancing about this experience – perhaps it’s not being a minority for a while, perhaps it’s the freedom from all the roles we assume, and an opportunity for a clean slate – to be yourself – not more and no less... whatever it is it works.

Each day we take another step in this journey together – each taking control of our journey, but sharing the ride and working together....”

