Mommy HOME

Hi everyone. Morning mommy.

Well, this is the second to last Harley Report. The next one will be when Mommy comes home. That's just in two more wake ups!

Mommy, when you come home, can we have some of your s'ketti? Daddy only makes pizza and Peanut Butter and Jelly sandwiches. I miss my mommy's s'ketti.

I miss mommy, too.

Mommy called late tonight. They had a long ride. Mommy's going to make the WHOLE ride. Yahoo! She's not going to let a little chemo get in her way.

But tomorrow's ride is her last day on the bikes. She said that she's going to be very whiny. The last stretch of the ride takes mommy through whine country, she said.

I get into trouble if I whine too much, so I hope mommy only has a little whine. I think it's funny that they have a place called "Whine Country."

Mommy gets to ride over the Golden Gate Bridge tomorrow, too. That's a big bridge! I'd have my eyes closed if I was riding over it. Mommy better have her eyes open.

I want to thank everyone who said nice things about the Harley Reports. I had fun taking all of the pictures and being silly. I can't wait to get my first picture with mommy when she gets off of the plane.

And I really want to thank all the nice people who said prayers and sent good karma to my mommy when she was feeling bad on the ride. And to Aunt Megan for trading bikes with mommy!

And to anyone who made a donation to mommy's ride or to any of the other mommies on the ride, you officially rock! And I give you a Harley Girl Thumbs up!

I love you mommy! I'm proud of you.

Love Harley G

Help make a donation to my mommy's special motorcycle ride...NOW!
