Anti-breast cancer ride

Biking women affected by breast cancer are being called together for a London to Edinburgh fundraising ride.

The August 20-27 event represents the UK leg of the Changing Gears Global Challenge with all funds raised from the UK going to the Lavender Trust at Breast Cancer Care. It raises money specifically to fund information and support for younger women with breast cancer.

The event started off in the US last year but is now going global.

Now the organisers need 20 women riders who have been affected by breast cancer to take part in the UK.

The closing date for applicants is March 15, 2005.

Further details see:
